Semi-Permanent Make-Up procedure is performed around eyes, eyebrows and lips, for camouflaging un-even color ,shape , as well as correcting some facial irregularities. IS THE SEMI-PERMANENT MAKEUP PROCEDURE PAINFUL AND HOW MUCH DOES IT HURT?

IS TOUCH-UP REALLY NEEDED?

During the healing process, the skin is working on the repealing itself. The lymphatic system is trying to push out all external particles to prevent contamination. That explains why the color implanted the first time is not perfect after healing. Also the first time appointment and procedure is like a sketch for technician. All skin is different and can respond differently by healing and keeping the pigments. At the touch-up, the technician reviews her work and adds the finishing corrective touches for color and shape. Our prices include one follow up procedure (touch up).

WHAT IS SEMI-PERMANENT MAKEUP HEALING PROCESS?

The color will appear darker through the first week or so. This is because the pigment takes around seven days to enter the deeper layers of the skin. After seven to ten days, exfoliation takes place. The top layer of the skin peels off, leaving a softer, lighter color below. The result leaves you with softer and more natural lines. As the treated area continues to heal, itching may occur. Itching is a good sign as it means the skin is healing. The complete healing process for permanent makeup typically takes six weeks and then a touch up appointment follows. The touch up appointment is scheduled during the initial permanent makeup appointment for six to ten weeks later.
